mer clothing, small pillars of fire, raged pitilessly as they were swept along by the burning humanity.

The townspeople did all in their power for the stricken victims, and the Pittsburgh ambulances were immediately dispatched to the scene with a corps of physicians. Many of those not seriously burned were sent to the hospital in Sheridan, while others were sent to the various Pittsburgh hospitals, and the dead removed to undertaking establishments in Sheridan and vicinity and to the Pittsburgh morgue.

HEAVY PROPERTY LOSS.
The Panhandle Railroad Company has thirty-six tracks through Sheridan and has succeeded in keeping communication open. The property loss will amount to at least $600,000.

BARONESS WANTS HER FREEDOM AND CHILD.

AMERICAN GIRL FOUND ENGLISH LORD A BAD BARGAIN.

Lady Hallett, daughter of Anson Phelps Stokes, New York Multi-Millionaire, is tired of male encumbrance attached to her title.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) NEW YORK, May 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] If Baroness Hallett wins her divorce suit there will be another New York family that includes a British nobleman among its divorced sons-in-law. The Baroness was Miss Sarah Phelps Stokes, daughter of Anson Phelps Stokes, and sister of Anson Phelps Stokes, Jr., a millionaire in his own right, Prussian Episcopal clergyman, and secretary of the Yale University.

Society has been hearing whisperings of this newest divorce scandal for two years, though the London court's have tried to hush it up, but the suit is on, and the Baroness has sailed for Europe to be present at the trial. She demands the custody of her child, who is the son of the late Hallett, will be another "American peer."

Society does not know yet whether the Baron will put in a defense or not. He and his wife have been technically separated since 1900, when she came to this country to visit her mother. Amazing disclosures are expected at the trial.

The Baroness is the eldest daughter of Mr. Phelps Stokes, who is rated at $20,000,000. He has a great town house at No. 229 Madison avenue, and "Shadowbrook," the most magnificent country villa at Lenox, a regal home, with rooms to accommodate fifty guests. Baron Hugh Hallett holds one of the most honored of Scottish peerages. He has a handsome residence in London and extensive property over there.

The Baron is a tall, handsome, clever, and a thorough man of the world. He was a romantic attachment for the rich American girl. They met on a coaching trip in England. The nobleman followed the beautiful heiress to this country. He pressed his suit so ardently that the engagement was soon announced.

AERIAL NAVIGATION GETS A SETBACK.

EXPLOSION OF SEÑOR SEVERO'S AIRSHIP IN MID AIR.

Bodies of Daring Aeronaut and Engineer Crushed to a Pulp by the Fall—Santos-Dumont Thinks Disaster Due to Carelessness.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.) PARIS, May 12.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The airship belonging to Señor Augusto Severo, the Brazilian aeronaut, made an ascension this morning. The airship exploded and Severo and one of his assistants were killed. The aeronaut had with the intention of sailing to the military parade grounds at Issy, and a large number of his relatives and friends were proceeding in the direction of that village, situated five miles southwest of Paris.

With an engineer named Sachet, Severo sailed out of his balloon-house near the Boulevard d'Angoulême at 2:30 a.m. in excellent spirits and full of confidence. The aeronaut put his airship through a series of evolutions before starting in the direction of Issy. There seemed to be some hitch with the steering gear, and the rear propelling screw turned with difficulty. Nevertheless, after several stoppages, the airship sailed off, moving steadily enough through a light breeze, suddenly a gust of wind brought the ship and whirled it over the Avenue de Maine. The ship turned completely round and veered about in a fashion showing that control of her had been lost. The airship, from the center of the outer envelope, tongue of flame darted out. This was followed by a loud report, resembling a cannon shot, and the ship sank like a stone, falling on the roof of a house in the middle of trees, and finally reaching the Avenue du Maine, almost on top of its occupant, who had previously been precipitated to the stone pavement. The fusillade, mangonel corners of Severo and Sachet were conveyed to a neighboring police station.

The bodies presented a horrible spectacle, partially charred. Sachet, the father, which caused the explosion, burned the engineer in a most shocking manner. Practically not a bone of either victim was left unfractured, and both aeronauts were crushed.

Santos-Dumont, who has been confined to his bed for three days, suffering from nervous trouble, said to a representative of the Associated Press:

"I do not want to talk about Severo, as I did not see the disaster. I have not read the accounts in the papers, and really know what my friends have told me. From what Mr. Charles, the builder of Severo's and my balloons, says, I think Severo lost his head. I understand he threw out balloons in the direction of the military parade. This, if true, is sufficient to explain the accident. Rapid rising would drive out the gas through the valve, and cause the balloon to burst, thus causing an explosion. One defect in Severo's airship was that the motors were too near the balloon."

"No, the catastrophe does not discourage me, but there was a setback to aerial navigation. It will frighten many persons, and discourage those who were inclined to spend money in such undertakings."

HOOTY'S LUCKY STRIKE.

TOCSON (Ariz.), May 12.—Former Collector of Customs William Hooty, recently acquitted of conspiracy to smuggle Chinese in from Mexico, today sold a fifth interest in Sonora mines for $20,000 cash.

BIG STRIKE HAS STARTED.

All Anthracite Mines Shut Down.

All Indications Point to Bitter Struggle.

Coal Companies Have Made Preparations for a Long Siege.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.) PHILADELPHIA, May 12—Mine workers throughout the entire anthracite coal region of Pennsylvania, to the number of 140,000, began their struggle today for an increased wage and shorter hours. Never in the history of hard coal mining has a tie-up been so complete, not one of the 357 collieries in the territory being in operation. There is very indication for the wage increase, the miners' strike which will meet at Hazleton on Wednesday.

Absolute quiet prevails everywhere today. In pursuance of the order of the district executive boards, which met jointly at Scranton last week, all miners in the anthracite region have met during the day and evening, and elected delegates to the Hazleton convention. It is significant that in every case where the vote of a "local" became public, the ballot showed a decided majority for a permanent strike unless the operators grant concessions. Predictions are made that if it is decided to strike Wednesday, to continue the strike, the strike will be longer and bitterer than that of 1900, which lasted six weeks.

Society has been hearing whisperings of this newest divorce scandal for two years, though the London court's have tried to hush it up, but the suit is on, and the Baroness has sailed for Europe to be present at the trial. She demands the custody of her child, who is the son of the late Hallett, will be another "American peer."

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.) SCRANTON (Pa.), May 12.—An official of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company said today that that corporation had no intention of resorting to a lockout.

"We do not intend to irritate the men and the companies are of the same mind," he added. "The situation is now in the hands of the miners. After Wednesday it will be out of our hands."

"We appreciate the fact that John Mitchell spent a busy day at his headquarters. He was in close communication with all the district leaders, and expressed himself as well satisfied with the way the men were responding to the call for suspension of work of eight hours for Hazleton tomorrow afternoon."

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) INDIANAPOLIS, May 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Harry S. New, a member of the National Republican Committee for Indiana, and the President are arranging for a hunting excursion in Big Horn country, in Wyoming, and it is understood they will make the western trip soon after Congress adjourns.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.) DENVER (Colo.) May 12.—The fight between the American Federation of Labor and the Western Labor Union has assumed a serious phase all over the western country, and President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor now declares that he will make one more offer of peace, to be followed by a declaration of war, if his offer is not accepted. The American Federation of Labor objects to any union which has an international organization. Organizer J. D. Pierce of the Western Labor Union organizing an American Federation of Labor, speaking as the special representative of President-elect Palma, at the meeting of the Trade and Labor Association of this city, announced that the executive council had decided that the rights of the national and international organizations must be protected at all hazards.

The representatives of the council will attend the miners' convention in Denver, next week, to protect the American Federation's ultimatum.

Ordered Out Again.

CHICAGO, May 12.—The eight hundred employees of the Morgan & Wright Company, who returned to New Mexico, have ordered out again by the International Rubber Workers' Union, whose officials allege that an agreement as to the scale of wages has not been carried out.

Aid for Car Men.

CHICAGO, May 12.—The Chicago Federation of Labor, representing 200,000 laborers, has pledged financial and moral support to the streetcar employees, who are meeting opposition in their efforts to organize.

Strike in Denver.

DENVER (Colo.) May 12.—Eight hundred men are now on strike in Denver. Six large unions are involved. The lumber yards, wood working mills and lumber dealers are all well-organized. The organizations on strike, with the number of men out, are as follows: Woodworkers, 400; lumbermen, 150; stable men, 120; bakers, 110; machinists, 65; team drivers, 25.

AMERICAN AID FOR ANTILLES.

Prompt Relief for the Volcano Victims.

President Takes Speedy Action in Matter.

Congress Makes Appropriation Supplies Will at Once Be Forwarded.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M. 1
WASHINGTON, May 12.—The President himself turned his attention today to the question of relief of the sufferers from the terrible catastrophe in the Lesser Antilles. Although Congress had not finally appropriated the funds necessary for the purchase of supplies, the President proceeded with the greatest energy to give shape to the relief measures. Senator Hay was called in and brought with him the dispatch from the United States Consul, which served as official confirmation of the worst reports of the extent of the disaster, and in the opinion of the President, fully justifies emergency measures.

Secretary Hay was requested to acquire Secretary Root and Secretary Moody with the President's wishes and they were charged to carry out the details of the arrangements. The Treasury Department was instructed to make the emphysema of the revenue cutters, and the medical officers of the Marine Hospital Service. The War Department, with its well-organized supply departments, was recognized as being in a position to take charge of the relief measures, except that it had no means of transportation, the Sedgwick, which is out of commission, being the only army transport on the Atlantic coast. Fortunately the navy had a handy ship in the Dixie, which arrived at New York recently from a training cruise. She was to be the Spanish War, and having been a merchant freighter, is admirably adapted to the service required of her now.

Secretary Moody immediately telegraphed orders to Capt. Berry, her commander, to ship supplies to be offered him, and sail at the earliest possible moment for Martinique. He was authorized to extend relief to other islands if he found any necessity for so doing. Naval Bureau officers estimate that she can be coaled and provisioned, and gotten under way by Wednesday evening.

The scientific departments of the government will avail of the opportunity to send on the Dixie as passengers two professors from a geological survey. A Harvard volunteer specialist will also be given passage. The United States steamer Burfair, also a converted merchant freighter, will be used as a relief ship if the Dixie does not suffice.

Adjt.-Gen. Corbin, Quartermaster-General Ludington, Commissary-General Weston and Surgeon-General Sternberg were charged by Secretary Root with the part of the relief measures pertaining to the War Department.

After a few minutes' consultation, official orders were dictated for the guidance of the three supply departments, giving the sum of distribution as follows:

Three medical officers, with $5000 worth of medical stores, $20,000 in stores, consisting of rice, dried fish, sugar, coffee, tea, canned soups, condensed cream, salt pork and vinegars, the officer in command of the department with $20,000 worth of clothing supplies for men, women and children.

The orders directed that these officers and stores be sent on the Dixie to be distributed at such points as may be designated by the navy officer in command of the Dixie under instructions given by the Secretary of the Navy. The medical officer in command of such medical aid as may be in their power, in addition to the distribution of supplies, to Gen. Weston, commander, telegraphed immediately to Gen. Brainerd, the commissary officer at the New York depot, directing him to extend the allotment in the purchase of tea, coffee, sugar and other foods as agreed upon, and to see that these goods are loaded on the Dixie. Capt. Gallagher, one of Gen. Weston's most valued assistants, was selected to go to New York and succeed on the Dixie to Martinique. He will be in complete charge of the distribution of the stores, and a fund of $5000 was allotted him for emergency purposes. The character of the President's instruction to the department concerned in the relief measures may be gathered from the following letter, which was sent to Gen. Weston:

"JOHN HAY." Rear-Admiral Bradford, Chief of the Bureau of Equipment, suggested that the supplies from Martinique must suffer from lack of water, and that water barges now at Key West and Norfolk might be used in carrying water to the refuges. The President is considering the suggestion.

The army officers assigned to the duty of distributing the food, clothing and medical supplies to the survivors of the calamity at Martinique are: Capt. Robert Sewall of the Department of War, Capt. Fred L. Leavenworth, Capt. H. C. James R. Church and John J. Reilly of the Navy Department. The medical officers will be appointed by six members of the House of Representatives, one of whom will be appointed at Washington barracks and will be provided with a large quantity of medical stores and supplies.

The quartermaster's supplies to be transported on the Dixie will include about five hundred tents, clothing for women and children and camp equipment such as mess kits, sleeping-bags, frying pans and cooking utensils.

The subsistence supplies include about $60,000 rations. The chief work of the Department of State acted immediately upon the suggestion of Consul Ayme at Guadeloupe, relative to the Red Cross. In the absence of Miss Burton, Gen. John A. Wilson, late Chief of Engineers, U.S.A., is the ranking member of the committee of the Red Cross and was promptly advised of the course to be pursued. In order that he might call a meeting of that body to decide on the extent in which the societly shall participate in the relief work.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

URGING RELIEF APPROPRIATION.
(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The President today sent the following message to Congress:

To the Senate and House of Representatives: One of the greatest calamities known to history has fallen on the neighboring island of Martinique. The Consul of the United States at Guadeloupe has telegraphed from Port de France, under date of yesterday, that the disaster is complete; that the city of St. Pierre has ceased to exist, and that the American Consul and his family have perished. He is in complete ignorance of the fate of their lives, and that 50,000 are homeless and hungry; that there is urgent need of all kinds of provisions, and that the want of vessels for the work of supply and rescue is immediately required.

The government of France, while expressing their thanks for the marks of sympathy which have reached them from America, inform us that Port de France and the other islands of the region are also seriously menaced by the calamity which has taken place. The government of the United States may send as soon as possible the means of transporting them from the stricken island. The island of St. Lucia, and perhaps others in the region are also seriously menaced by the calamity which has taken place. They therefore request that for the purpose of rescuing the people who are in such deadly peril and threatened with death, the United States may give shape to the relief measures. Senator Hay was called in and brought with him the dispatch from the United States Consul, which served as official confirmation of the worst reports of the extent of the disaster, and in the opinion of the President, fully justifies emergency measures.

Fortunately the navy had a handy ship in the Dixie, which arrived at New York recently from a training cruise. She was to be the Spanish War, and having been a merchant freighter, is admirably adapted to the service required of her now.

Secretary Moody immediately telephoned to Capt. Berry, her commander, to ship supplies to be offered him, and sail at the earliest possible moment for Martinique. He was authorized to extend relief to other islands if he found any necessity for so doing. Naval Bureau officers estimate that she can be coaled and provisioned, and gotten under way by Wednesday evening.

The scientific departments of the government will avail of the opportunity to send on the Dixie as passengers two professors from a geological survey. The Treasury Department was instructed to make the emphysema of the revenue cutters, and the medical officers of the Marine Hospital Service. The War Department, with its well-organized supply departments, was recognized as being in a position to take charge of the relief measures, except that it had no means of transportation, the Sedgwick, which is out of commission, being the only army transport on the Atlantic coast. (CONTINUED FROM FIRST PAGE)

Parts were found to be intact, and not opened.

The coast villages near St. Pierre were destroyed simultaneously with the town. The entire island, up to the few miles of Fort de France, was covered with mud and lava.

The streets of the island, either all dead or dry, were filled with mud and lava.

Thousands of persons were flocking to Fort de France. Unexpected and urgent need for the services of the Red Cross Society.

The only means of communication outside world was the telegraph line via Europe.

The communication line was utterly dead upon this line, and the news was extremely heavy.

ST. VINCENT'S SCOURGE.

The British Royal Mail steamer Solomon brought awful news from the island of St. Vincent. May 9, a volcano there, the Soufrière, had into violent eruption. Mud, water and mud

was also the statement that the ca-buses had entirely disappeared.

On all sides were found corpses, which were gathered up by the soldiers and gendarmes and deposited on one of the public squares. Not a drop of water was perceptible on shore. The darkness produced by the clouds of volcanic dust shrouded the town, and continuous subterranean rumbling added to the horrors of the scene.

The port and central parts of the town were razed to the ground, and replaced by beds of hot cinders. The iron grille work of the gate of the government building alone was standing. There was no trace of the streets. Huge heaps of smoking ashes were to be seen on all sides.

At the landing place some burned and ruined walls indicated the spot where the custom-house formerly stood, and traces of the larger shops could be seen. In that neighborhood hundreds of cottages were apparently overcome before they could reach its doors. So far the search has been hindered by the fires that are still raging, and the investigators are in great danger.

"From the positions of the bodies the opinion is formed that many were overcome almost before they realized the extent of the disaster. The bodies are in lifelike positions, though death had come with a breath, as indeed has been the case.

"Steps have been taken to prevent disaster from recurring from this disaster. Burial parties are working night and day, but it is impossible to care for all the dead as they would wish.

"Militia have been established in the town to prevent vandalism. Such property as has not been destroyed will be protected. One of the great misfortunes arises from the fact that the storehouses of provisions have been swept out of existence."

HOW THE TIMES TREATS LABOR.

THE LOS ANGELES TIMES pays to its skilled workmen wages that average from $2.75 to $4.50 per day for time work, and from $4 to $5.50 per day for piece work. These rates are higher than are paid by any competing newspaper. The Times pays larger sums weekly, monthly and yearly for labor than any journal in the entire Southwest. Its cash disbursements on this account between August, 1899, and the end of September, 1901, aggregated $1,000,000.00, and its annual expenditures for labor of all classes, both skilled and unskilled, now average more than $75,000 per year. There never has been any attempt, in any quarter, to deny these specific and telling facts, and the proprietors challenge such denial if made. The Times has a more skillful, reliable and satisfactory force of workmen than any rival newspaper establishment; and not for years has it had any trouble with its workmen, who are independent of unions, loyal to their employers and to themselves, well satisfied and prosperous. The Times controls its own business in its own way, subject only to the laws of the land; and no interference with that control can be lawfully or justly made. The result of its fixed policy has proven highly beneficial to all concerned, and the justness and correctness of its course have for years past received public approval in most marked and conspicuous ways, the circulation and advertising patronage of the paper steadily and largely outstripping that of all local rivals.

BUSINESS.

The clearings sent by the city banks yesterday amounted to $1,80,244.70, a sum much above the average. A large deal in real property on Broadway, near Second, involving a transfer of nearly two and a quarter million dollars, appears in the banking of the day. For the corresponding day last year the amount was $69,076.63, a full average for that time.

Stringency in the money market, the anachracts strike and a discouraging crop report caused depression in the stock markets yesterday. Grain closed strong and higher on the strength of the government report.

CITRUS FRUIT.

The Times will publish tomorrow a comprehensive and interesting article on the citrus-fruit industry in the United States, with information not thus far available, in accessible form, regarding the origin, varieties, development, growth, etc., of citrus fruits in California, Florida and other sections. This article will be of interest not only to those who are actively engaged in the citrus-fruit culture, but also to all who are interested in the development of a section which depends so largely on this industry for its prosperity.

THE PHILIPPINE DEBATE.

For several weeks the Senate of the United States has been "debating" the Philippines government bill. It has been a rather one-sided debate until very recently, the Republican Senators, contenting themselves with allowing Senators Carmack, Rawlins and other bolomen on the Democratic side of the chamber to pour out the wildest and most malevolent abuse of our men in the field, while no voice was raised in refutation of the slanders or in defense of our men-at-arms. Since the Republican Senators, goaded at length into breaking the mistaken policy of silence, took up the defense, the debate has certainly not been one-sided, nor has it been lacking in dramatic features.

Yet, after all, it cannot truthfully be said that this discussion has been productive of any material good, except in so far as good has resulted in the refutation of Democratic falsehoods and slanders. All the talk has not resulted in the changing of a single vote for or against the bill. There is no pretense that any such result is expected. The Senate Filipinos have been gabbling merely for political effect—in the hope that their vicious assaults upon our soldiers in the field might win for their party a few votes in the forthcoming Congressional elections. In this hope they are doomed to disappointment, for in all probability the effect will be the precise opposite of what they anticipate. From a political point of view, the Republican Senators would do well to let the Rawlinses, the Carmacks, and the Tillmans continue their impetuous harangues against the army indefinitely; for such disgusting drivels as they have given utterance to is sure to make Republican votes in the coming election.

However, this needless and altogether futile debate is consuming a great amount of valuable time, which the Senate might profitably employ in the transaction of legislative business which is of pressing importance. It is gratifying, therefore, to learn that there is some prospect that the Philippine debate will end in the near future. According to a Washington dispatch the Democratic members of the Senate Committee on Philippines have all given assurances that they "have no desire to prolong the debate beyond legitimate bounds."

Possibly they have arrived at this conclusion since the Republican Senators took up the defense and began to expose their false assertions. At any rate, it is reassuring to learn that the opinion is very generally expressed by Senators that the bill will be brought to vote by the middle of next week. Inasmuch as the debate is of no value, the sooner it comes to an end the better.

The course of our government in the Philippines has been mapped out, and it will be followed to a definite and successful conclusion, notwithstanding the opposition of a few bushwhackers in the Senate of the United States.

A HEALTHY CITY.

A short time ago, in commenting upon the remarkably high death rate of Los Angeles, as disclosed in the monthly reports of the Health Officer, we suggested that, in justice to the reputation of the city, it would be a good thing for the health authorities to give, with their monthly returns, the nativity of those who died here, expressing the belief that such figures would show a large majority of the deceased to be people who had been in Los Angeles, or in California, for only a short time. The health office appears to have adopted this suggestion, as in the report for April, of which a digest was published in The Times of Thursday, particulars in regard to the nativity of those who had died are added.

For the first time in many months the number of births reported exceeds the number of deaths. The total number of deaths, from all causes, during the month of April, was 172, or an annual rate per thousand of 14.33. This is not a heavy rate of mortality, but when we come to analyze the nativity of those who died, we find, as we expected, that, in doing justice to Los Angeles by debiting to the city only the deaths of those who had been in Los Angeles for some time, we should have to greatly decrease the percentage. We find that, of the 172 deaths, only 26 were natives of the city, and 14 of the Pacific Coast States, outside of the city, leaving 132 from other parts. Sixty-four of these had lived there less than three months, 6 between three and six months, 17 less than one year, 18 less than five years, 22 less than ten years, 40 over ten years and 5 all their lives. Thus, we find that 87 of these people had been in Los Angeles less than a year, probably coming here as advanced invalids, and should not, therefore, properly be charged up on the death rate of the city. This would reduce the death rate one-half, or to about 7 per thousand, a rate which could probably be shown by no other city of equal size in the world. Even if we should include in the list all who had been in Los Angeles more than three months, we should have a death rate of only about 9 per thousand.

On examining the statistics of death from tuberculosis, we find a still more striking example of the truth that most of those who died here came from abroad. Of the forty-nine deaths from tuberculosis, only two were natives of this city, and three of the Pacific Coast States outside of the city, while forty-four came from other parts. Only twelve had lived here over ten years, while nineteen had been here less than three months. These statistics conclusively establish the right of Los Angeles to boast of being a remarkably healthy city. The health office would do well to continue the plan of publishing, month by month, statistics of the nativity of people who die here. Otherwise, it may give some of the jaundiced papers which are jealous of Southern California, a chance to poke fun at a health resort, where the deaths exceed the births.

It is usual, in the case of tremendous calamities, to find the earlier reports thereof greatly exaggerated, but in the later story that comes from Martingale the awful tale first told is fully confirmed, and is accompanied by details that are new and bear upon the understanding. Human imagination cannot conceive the horror of that awful moment, when the flames swept down from the crater of Mount Pelee, and, in one brief half second, destroyed the city of St. Pierre, and all the inhabitants thereof, as a moth is consumed in the flame of a candle. It is gratifying to Americans to know that the characteristic promptness of our government has been the very first to offer succor to the few ruined and suffering people that may be left on the island. All the disasters of the past pale into insignificance beside this holocaust of the second year of the new century. The Times feels confident that if the aid for the afflicted is needed from the people of this great and prosperous country, it will be promptly forthcoming.

Human nature seems to be about the same world over. They have just been having a riot in France in connection with the coming of Barnum & Bailey's circus. What should there be anything about a circus to cause a gorging of the populace to rise, has not been satisfactorily explained, but the many days and nights of strife that has been waged in this country between circus employés and the audience gives testimony that when the "elephant" goes round and round and the band begins to play, the assembled multitude is very likely to begin throwing rocks and heaving lurid language. Let us have peace, though.

To those who have oodles much to be about, Prince Henry of Prussia, remembered so pleasantly by Americans, has inherited a castle at Bingen, fair Bingen-on-the-Rhine—the self-same Bingen about which every schoolboy has feeling recollections because of the young man who "lay dying in Algiers," where "there was lack of woman's nursing, there was death of woman's tears." Most of you doubtless recall the time and place where all this trouble occurred at an early date.

The peace people are still parleying in South Africa, but that they will get together shortly we may rest assured. Both sides are tired to the gills with fighting, and just when one of the parties to the difficulty is the weaker of the two, it would be difficult to find out without a search warrant. The world will rejoice with both the Boers and the Britons, however, when hostilities cease, and peace once more reigns upon the veldt.

THE SOCIALES OF PARIS are making complaint about the portraits of the wife and daughter of our President that have been hung in the salon at public expense. To tell the truth, there seems to be reason in the contention that the State has no right to spend the public funds in purchasing portraits of unofficial individuals. If the Socialists are ever right, we ought to be willing to grant as much, and let it go at that.

TUESDAY, MAY 13, 1902.

EVENTS IN SOCIETY.

Mr. and Mrs. Hancock Banning entertained at dinner last evening company to Miss Violet Wigmore. Guests were laid for twelve.

Hedge-Companions.

One of the most enjoyable parties of the season was given last week by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. O'Melveny to a group of young people at their country home in the San Gabriel Canyon. The outing was a gay one, with numerous incidents that kept the young folks in a constant round of merriment. The party, which returned Sunday afternoon, included Misses Elizabeth Shankland, Alice Gandy, Lora Hubbard Anna, Mrs. Mabel Linton Tedford, Karl C. Fowler, Shankland and William Dargie Jr.

Mrs. Fiedlander.

Charles T. Whitney of Bonnie Brae was the honored guest at the home of T. Cary Fiedlander of San Francisco. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. M. Cheever, Mrs. Howard, Mrs. Frank B. Bishop, Miss Anna Schmitz, Miss Clara Badley, Miss Badley and Miss Schermerhorn. In attendance at the tea party was Gardner's orchestra. An enjoyable feature of the afternoon was the service of tea which the young ladies had been invited to meet the needs of house and guest. The tea room was filled with an average of many guests during the hour for receiving. The decorations were beautiful and the house was filled with many interesting features concerning them. French and white sweet peas were arranged in the drawing-room. La France roses decorated the tea room, while white tea cups and punch were served on an artistic display of tea.

Monday Musical.

Miss Mollie Adelia Brown entertained delightfully yesterday afternoon at the regular session of the Monday Club.

The members of the Monday Club, the Sorosis Club, and a few members of the Sesame Club read a paper on the subject. Some spoke of the work of the club, while others discussed the "Ballads" which was the theme of the afternoon, and Mrs. H. T. Lee of the Sesame Club read a paper on the subject. The programme was enjoyed by several members.

Misses Adair and Miss Ryan, both of Atlanta, Ga., presided at the tea table.

ing Los Angeles as guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. Etchegaray of South Grand avenue.

ENDS LIFE WITH POISON.

C. A. Strahle, an Anaheim Plumber, commits suicide because of financial troubles and failing health.

The body of C. A. Strahle, a plumber, whose home is in Anaheim, was found in a room in the Grand Central Hotel, No. 328 North Main street, yesterday afternoon. Near his bedside was a glass container supposed to be a form of chloral. In his pocket was a form of chloral. The remains were taken to Garrett's undertakers, Fullerton, where an inquest will be held today.

Strahle appeared at the hotel Sunday night, and after engaging a room, went to bed. He remained until 11 o'clock and retired. Yesterday afternoon Frank White, a porter, entered the room and found Strahle dead on the floor.

The dead man's pockets were found forty or more letters, a number of uncanceled bills, and a bank book on an Anaheim bank showing a balance of $25. Most of the letters were from Los Angeles and San Francisco firms demanding immediate payment of accounts due, and in some of them he had signed his name. It is supposed that Strahle became discouraged because of financial difficulties, and this, together with failing health, caused him to end his life. It is not known by the authorities whether he had a family in Anaheim.

WHERE IS BROOKMAN?

Los Angeles Printer Went to Santa Monica Sunday and Has not Been Seen Since.

Jeffrey Brookman, aged 27, foreman in the printing office of R. Y. McBride, is missing, and his relatives fear that harm may befall him. He was unmarried, and resided with his father on Orange street. He was not a drinking man, but was regular in his habits, in fact, had no known vices such as would cause him to leave his wife and home even for a day.

Sunday morning he went to Santa Monica to spend the day. He went bathing at the North Beach bathhouse, but returned to the desk at his office, where he secured his valables, which he had left in a locker. From that time no one who knows him has seen him, or if they have his relatives have been unable to learn anything about him. When he did not return Sunday night, they supposed he had gone to the home of a friend, and were not greatly alarmed, but when they did not appear yesterday, his father, Arthur Brookman, began to search. He went to Santa Monica and called at all the lodging-houses, but could find no trace of the missing man. The police were notified last night.

IT WAS ALDRICH.

Man Writes for Information About the Murderous Doctor Who Killed Himself While Resisting Arrest. Capt. Bradish of the detective force has received a letter from George W. Hartzel, a lumber dealer at Greenville, O., asking for information about Dr. E. C. Aldrich, who committed suicide at Hotel St. Louis after a desperate battle with the police. He wants to know whether it was the same Aldrich who lived in Dallas, Tex. In the letter he reads:

"The Dallas, Tex., Aldrich was associated with a woman, who afterward figured in my father's estate, and who sent me a lot of bogus notes which the 'prudent' held against my father, and in this way we met Aldrich. He was a truly desperate man. Everybody in Dallas was afraid of him, and he would call at his private office to interview him. He insisted upon keeping in his hand a 12-gauge horse pistol. I think he had a place in Chicago, in Cincinnati and in Philadelphia. Capt. Bradish has answered the letter, informing the writer that there is no doubt about the Aldrich here being the same man whom he refers, and asking him for more information concerning him.

Birthdays.

One of the charming social events of the past week was the birthday dinner given by Mrs. Stilson in honor of Mrs. Dimon, T. S. Dimon. Beside the group of honored guests were Mrs. Sarah Platt-Decker, Mrs. Emma Fox, Mrs. A. H. Thompson, Mrs. G. Greenleaf, Mrs. F. A. Eastman, Mrs. John White, and her guest, Mrs. John Stoltz of San Francisco. Guests were drunk to the health of the beautiful woman whose fidelity to duty and sincerity of purpose make her a favorite with all who know her. To Mrs. Decker, the woman who would rather be right than be President.

Pallete Club.

The Pallete Club held its usual monthly meeting Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Ward on Rosewood street. There was a goodly attendance and a fair number of sketches on the month's subject of The Critic were presented, but the Fiesta and the annual carnival were the main attraction. The latter part of the evening was delightfully spent in music, aided by light refreshments.

SUNNY WOMEN.

Who has not known the woman whose disposition is described by that one word, "sunny"? She is a woman who is smiling on her lips. Her cheeks are ever ready to dimple in smiles. Her household influence is as brightening and stimulating as the sunshine. Nothing can be crueler than to have this sunshine blotted out by disease. But this is a common cruelty. The young wife who was the sunshine of the home becomes the shadow of the home when she does not know the value of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in the protection and preservation of the health. It promotes regularity, dries the drains which enfeebles body and mind, and cures inflammation, ulceration and female weakness. It nourishes the nervous system and gives to the body the balance and buoyancy of health. It is a strictly temperature medicine.

"I can say that your medicine cured me," writes Mrs. Maud Pearce of Mountain View, Calif. "I was often ill for years from female weakness and I had almost given up, thinking there was no cure for me. One day I read in the paper that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription had cured a woman who was ill for years. I thought I would try it, and can say that seven bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' made me well again. Took some of the 'Golden Balsam' and 'Pecan Pellets' cure constipation.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Giving Out Prizes.

The Fiesta Committee is now giving out the prizes won in the parade, and is also giving out the bills collected at that time. Secretary Zeschdelian asks that all persons interested in either, call at the office of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association.

The Blue Ribbons.

Francis Murphy, of blue-ribbon fame, received the title from the Herald yesterday, when his meetings were attended with great success. He will rest here this week, before going to his next engagement, and will henceforth be a city resident.

Mrs. Murphy is in Fair Oaks, whence she was called on business two weeks ago.

Art Collection.

The free exhibit of the Art Association at No. 614 South Hill street, will remain open to the public for the remainder of this month.

The constant stream of visitors has been largely made up of strangers, and it is felt that many city people have been deprived of the privilege of seeing the fine collection of pictures by their engagements of the busy Fiesta week.

Still Thinking of It.

The committee appointed by the City Board of Education to look into the school census, is still considering the matter. Whether or not a new census will be taken has not been determined; but some of the school authorities believe such a census would be valuable in view of the big difference between the recent census and the one taken a year ago.

Mysterious Blaze.

An unoccupied residence at No. 618 South Figueroa street, owned by H. B. Hughes, was damaged $150 by fire at 11:30 o'clock last night. The blaze originated in the ground room on the lower floor, and was discovered by two women who were passing. The place was furnished, the furniture belonging to Allen Dodd of the Southern Pacific. Condition of the fire is unknown. A party of workmen were cleaning there yesterday, and they may have started the fire.

For a Sloat Monument.

The Board of Supervisors has received an appeal for a contribution to the Sloat Monument Fund by the veterans, formed to erect a monument to the memory of Rear-Admiral John Drake Sloat at Monterey, where he hoisted the American flag on July 7, 1846. Local men, along with every other county in California, is asked to furnish an inscribed stone for the foundation and $100 for expenses of transportation and installation. Several thousand names of the veterans have already complied with the request, as well as several organizations.

H.E.A. at Minneapolis.

The next meeting of the National Educational Association will be held at Minneapolis, Minn., July 7 to 11, 1902. A special rate of one far (42c. 40c.) for members of the Association, for the round trip, with $2 membership, for Low excursion rates are also announced from the convention city to Detroit, Buffalo, Mackinac and other lake ports. The fare will be over any of the routes East, and sale of tickets will occur July 1 and 2, the going limit being July 8. It is announced that an excellent programme is being prepared for the general session, and that the local committees have Southwest Wanta Gas.

The Southwest Improvement League held a largely-attended meeting at Wilson's Hall last evening and launched a determined movement to secure more gas for the city. The League remains at all times and residents are unable to secure gas for either fuel or light. Last night responsible property owners decided to offer to the city company an ample amount of gas for free for the erection of a gas plant. The Pacific Insurance Union has reduced the rate on property in the University district 10 per cent, on account of the installation of additional power hydrants.

Inhuman Cruelty.

Charles Sheffield was arrested yesterday for the second time, charging him with misdeemeanor, and was later released on $100 cash bond. He is an employee of the Eagle Stables, and is charged with so abusing a horse that the animal was unable to stand. According to the statement of a young man who witnessed Sheffield's actions, the latter was leading a horse belonging to Morrison, the confectioner, when he slipped a knot and a half-knot through the horse's mouth with a small rope and drew the knot so tightly that the animal's tongue was severed from the flesh. The severed portion hangs by a shred. Then he hitched the horse to a wagon and sent it out, but its condition was soon discovered. When the officers went to look for Sheffield he had disappeared. Later he was found hiding in his room.

SHE OBJECTS TO MATRIMONY.
NEW YORK, May 12.—Miss Belliza M. Hull of New Haven, Ct., who is teaching school under government auspices in Philadelphia, where she has been a special to the World, that she hopes the government will not appoint unmarried women to places as teachers in the future, or if it must appoint, that they be sent to the cities. The provinces are no place for unmarried women," she says, and adds: "Next to the folly of coming out here unmarried is that of getting married here, as many of the women teachers are doing."

CAUSES SALVADOR PAIN.
NEW YORK, May 12.—Great indignation is felt in Salvador, says the Herald's Panama correspondent, over the recent statement of the government in Washington, which consents the government of Salvador to pay more than $500,000 to satisfy the claims of American citizens in the port of El Triunfo. Native, as it is said, Salvador will not be disposed to enter into contracts with Americans in the future.

COLD AN INVIGORANT

Cooling Baths and Refrigerated Air as Factors in Improving Health—Comparing Summer Heat.

By FELIX L. OSWALD, A.M., M.D.
(Author of "The Science of Nature," etc.)

Cold air is a stimulant and nature's specific for the cure of many obstinate disorders of the human organism. Fevers that defy all the remedies of the drug stores are stopped by the first October frosts. A large number of contagious germ diseases are limited to the lower altitudes. Highland resorts are natural cures.

"Our teamsters meet all incoming trains," says the facetious manager of an Allegheny summer resort, "and will warrant the safe delivery of all consignments, with one exception—no case of hay fever has ever reached our mountain top unbroken."

Artificial refrigeration can be made to answer the same purpose. Fifteen years ago Dr. George Peabody of Miami, Cuba, proved by the evidence of practical tests that nineteen out of twenty yellow fever patients could be readily cured in ice-cooled hospitals.

George Peabody, the father of hydrotherapy, cured half a hundred different diseases by the application of cold water in some form or other, and varied his prescriptions from light sponge baths to cold, freezing baths but refused all compromise in point of temperature.

"Useful will make you shiver," he used to say, "and I would rather shiver in my bathroons for a few minutes than in fever fits for weeks and months."

NEW CONSUMPTION CURE.

Even consumption, once fatalistically ascribed to the influence of cold air, has proved more curable in North Dakota than in southern Mexico; patients who would have sought a cure in tropical asids resort actually recovered in winter camps of the upper Adirondacks. Dr. Jules Garner of Marseilles, France, now proposes to cure consumption by the inhalation of artificially cooled air. The secret of his process is said to be a medical review, "is founded on the fact that human beings can survive the effect of small doses of cold air which will destroy consumption microbes. It is a case of curing disease by a direct removal of the cause, a specific applied in situ, and as easily absorbed as the cold air expurgates the microbes of skin disease by inundations of sulphur and talc.

Lung diseases, in fact, are more prevalent in the factory districts of northern Italy than in the pastoral regions of Scandinavia, and north Scotland, and according to the unanimous testimony of arctic travelers, are almost unknown in the high mountain districts inhabited by beings of our species.

Father Kneipp's prescriptions made the village of Woerishofen the sanitary Mecca of two continents, though his aquatic baths and barefootedness in wet, cold fields were more fantastic than is now "en vogue."

"Freedom, the mountain nymph," Milton calls her, "would get promptly arrested in the Tyrol, and the motto of West Virginia claims too much, but it cannot be denied that mountaineers, with the rarest exception, are models of physical vigor.

Hercules, according to one of his general biographers, could generally vanquish any man in a single blow, but in a certain wrestling match was twice floored by a Thessalian highlander, the second time with an emphasis that induced him to change the program of his life performances in that special neighborhood.

VIGOR OF NORTHERN NATIONS.

It is also a most suggestive fact that international wars nearly always end with the victory of a northern nation over its southern neighbors. Egypt was vanquished by Persia, Persia by Greece, Greece by Rome, Rome by the barbarians of the northland forests; Scotland and Moon by north Goths; all Italy absorbed by north Italian Savoy, all Germany bullied by North German Prussia, South Mongol China routed by north Manchurian Manchus; Japan by the sea, and so on, confirmed by the apparent exception of South America where south-end republics are prospering at the expense of their northern neighbors. Justice, culture, discipline, and tactics were by no means always on the side of the frost-land champions, but their cold-weather steamed vigor prevailed against all odds.

Is there a doubt that their paroxysms will yet be recognized as a chief factor of physical prowess, and that time will verify the prophecies of Dr. Sanderson, who predicted an era of iron cast-irons, a victory of cold air and common sense over the power of the drug superstition?

The instinctive appreciation of nature's laws, and its influence in the presence in the northward exodus of civilized nations. For the last 4000 years the centers of culture have shifted to higher and higher latitudes, from Bengal to Memphis, from Rome, Vienna, Paris, Berlin, London and Edinburgh, and on our side of the Atlantic from the south coast of Mexico to Manhattan and the shores of the great lakes.

The time is near when invasions will fly to the nerve-bracing north as they used to fly to the equinating tropics.

In the meanwhile, all of our natural towns can be applied without medical assistance by any one who considers the blessing of health worth the trouble of an experiment. And, like charity, sanitary reform ought to begin at home.

UNSANITARY SUMMER CONDITIONS.

The summer martyrdom of our large cities is only partly due to the climatic depravity of the American continent. Its main explanation can be found in the circumstances that nearly all our domestic industries tend to attract and to frost and make warm weather more insupportable.

Ours is a winter-land country. For a long time the winters on British Isles and Scandinavian ancestors had reasons to dread Skymir, the ice demon, as the chief enemy of human happiness. The birds of the Eddas identified him with the cold, and his tricks endangered the safety of the very gods. Heroes served the purpose of winter gods, dismissing their refugees to the woods and fields as soon as bird songs heralded the return of spring.

The exigencies of indoor life have thus led to the strange result of reversing the laws of nature and turning millions of citizens into a mass of discomfort at the very time of the year when the children of the wilderness celebrate life as a festival. Summer has, indeed, become negatively the winter of the year. During the last fifty days from the middle of July to the end of August, self-destruction is more rampant than at any other time of the year. Conditions that would have resisted the hardships of Klondike winter campaign succumb to the but-an invigorant and nature's specific for the cure of countless germ diseases.

OVER AN UMBRELLA.

BY C. B. LEWIS.

Published under special arrangement with the S. S. McClure Co., New York.

MRS. JOSIAH PEABODY, wife of Daniel Peabody of the village of Glenville, has a remarkable umbrella. It had witnessed the struggle for American independence and had taken many journeys by land and water. The ribs had been bent or stove in on numerous occasions and the handle broken and glued together a half dozen times. It had attended funerals, camp meetings, quilting bees, hunting frolics and town meetings without number and at the age of 125 was still doing business at the old stand and holding its own against all competition.

Mrs. Levi Cantwell, wife of Deacon Cantwell of the same village and living right across the way from Mrs. Peabody, was a remarkable woman, and what more natural than that a remarkable woman and a remarkable umbrella should be advanced together.

Mrs. Cantwell was remarkable in that she could never sit out of her house without an umbrella. She dreaded rain like a cat and, no matter how clear the day, was always looking for an umbrella.

Both ladies had a remarkable umbrella of their own, and it was large enough to shelter her, but now and then she was forced to lend it or send it to the shop to be repaired.

The day was stated to have been to Rawsonville in the deacon's one-horse wagon, one of the occasions when his umbrella was "not at home." It was a beautiful June morning when the aversives were so low last night, for both players failed to count a dozen times owing to kisses. Keniston is out of practice at this style of game.

Mr. Sarconi, the expert, had made some fine round-table shots.

Several hundred spectators watched the game, which was a good one in many ways.

Sarconi's average was .561 for his eighty-nine innings, and Keniston averaged .464 for his eighty-eight.

Both averages are good, for W. C. Avery, the outside professional, made only .511 in fifty-three games.

Three-cushion billiards is one of the most difficult games played on several accounts, one of which is the spilling of as many shots by "kisses." This is as one of the principal reasons why the aversives were so low last night, for both players failed to count a dozen times owing to kisses. Keniston is out of practice at this style of game.

Mr. Sarconi, the expert, had made some fine round-table shots.

Keniston's runs were three, of which he made three, and also a dozen runs of two. Keniston made two runs of four, while in the thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth games he had a run of six runs of two each. In the fiftieth inning he was 23 to 22, for Sarconi, but was up against a crack player, at his own game. They played under a penance of safety.

SANTA ANA.

DENTISTS' GOLD STOLEN. SANTA ANA. May 12.—The dentists' office at their offices this morning they found that wholesale burglaries had been perpetrated. At the office of Dr. A. R. Hervey $200 worth of gold filling was missing. At the office of Dr. J. M. Raugh $40 had disappeared, and at the office of Dr. C. L. Butterfield about $20 had been taken. Each of these places had apparently been entered by means of a skeleton key. It has been ascertained that the burglars were probably well frightened away from the offices of Dr. P. R. Reynolds about 6 o'clock Sunday morning. Judge J. A. Wilson, who has rooms adjoining the offices of Dr. Reynolds, was awakened by a noise similar to the picking of a lock. Judge Wilson stepped into the hall, but before he opened the door he heard retreating footsteps down the hall toward the stairway. This is the second time Dr. Hervey's office has been burglarized. About a week ago it was entered between Saturday night and Sunday morning and about $40 worth of gold stolen.

BRANCH CONSUMERS' LEAGUE FORMED HERE YESTERDAY.

Sweat Shops and Child Labor to Be Fought by Refusal to Use the Products, and Saturday Afternoon Shopping is to Be Tabooed.

Nearly one hundred women, representing all of the clubs and creeds in the city, and a great deal of the wealth and fashion, assembled at the home of Mrs. A. Hine, No. 2209 South Figueroa, yesterday afternoon, and formed the Consumers' League of Los Angeles. The officers elected are: President, Mrs. Eugene Pettigrew; secretary, Mrs. Nora Sterry; treasurer, Mrs. W. D. Dunn.

The league was formed through the agency of Mrs. Florence Kelley, corresponding secretary of the National Consumers' League, and Mrs. Frederick Nathan, president of the league of New York, was an able assistant.

Both of these women explained the principles and objects of the organization.

The sweat shops and child labor were so effective that all of the women present pledged themselves the enemies of these systems by promising not to patronize their products.

Following are the principles of the league:

First—That the interests of the community demand that all workers shall receive a fair living wage and that goods shall be produced under sanitary conditions.

Second—That the responsibility for producing the work evils from which consumers suffer rests with the sumptuous who seek the cheapest market regardless of how cheapness is brought about.

Third—That it is therefore the duty of consumers to find out under what conditions the articles they purchase are produced and distributed, and insist that these conditions shall be humane and consistent with a respectable existence on the part of the workers.

The points brought out in the speech of the two organizations were in this manner, as follows: In the great manufacturing centers like New York, Philadelphia and Chicago, the evils of the sweat shops and child labor cannot be dealt with locally for the products of these reach consumers all over the country. The only remedy is to unite the people and send a delegation to the seat of government to insist that the national league to organize branches in all of the principal cities of the United States. The compact body of public opinion is to be the force that will overthrow these evils.

In Massachusetts and New York these existants, and there has been considerable headway in both of those States.

The League of Los Angeles, consisting of C. E. Edwards, Dan Bishop, J. W. Bishop and N. H. Helms, left today for the mountains in the vicinity of Old Baldy.

The points brought out in the speech of the two organizations were in this manner, as follows: In the great manufacturing centers like New York, Philadelphia and Chicago, the evils of the sweat shops and child labor cannot be dealt with locally for the products of these reach consumers all over the country. The only remedy is to unite the people and send a delegation to the seat of government to insist that the national league to organize branches in all of the principal cities of the United States. The compact body of public opinion is to be the force that will overthrow these evils.

In Massachusetts and New York these existants, and there has been considerable headway in both of those States.

The League of Los Angeles, consisting of C. E. Edwards, Dan Bishop, J. W. Bishop and N. H. Helms, left today for the mountains in the vicinity of Old Baldy.
